

SPORTS. FAITH & LEADERSHIP

CHANGING THE CONVERSATION

Sports Enthusiasts
of all ages are invited to join the upcoming events featuring
local athletes and coaches
in conversations with Chris Huebner.

Chris Huebner is Associate Professor of Theology and Philosophy at Canadian Mennonite University in Winnipeg. He has long been interested in the ways theology and philosophy overlap with various aspects of the athletic life and is currently working on a book that explores those “athletes of God” more commonly referred to as martyrs. He is also actively involved in amateur sports – especially cycling – as a racer, coach, and race organizer. He is currently serving as a co-chair of the host committee for the 2014 and 2015 Canadian Cyclocross Championships.
